

BRIAN NELSON

Brian Nelson discovered his passion for woodworking almost 30 years ago. He focused initially on traditional and contemporary furniture but couldn't resist the temptation to test the limits of classic woodworking techniques, expanding into art and sculpture. His approach is based on constant experimentation, grounded in a deep understanding of the complex and unique natural properties of wood. The results reveal the endless and often surprising potential of this amazing media.